

NAZF Visitor Charter 2010/11

Here at Noah's Ark Zoo Farm we are passionate about looking after and managing the environment to preserve and nurture it for future generations to use and enjoy.

Working in accordance with the Green Tourism Business Scheme, Noah's Ark has set high standards of environmental 'good practise' through a series of innovative projects and initiatives which help us save energy, use cleaner energy, recycle waste responsibly and actively engage with the conservation of local wildlife. As a public-facing business, we communicate this to our visitors through displays and signs onsite, educational workshops available for schools and through our website.

We want to encourage you, our visitor, to help us make the South West a cleaner, more environmentally responsible place for people to enjoy with their families and friends. Whilst you're visiting Noah's Ark, have a look at some of the displays which discuss some of the 'green' initiatives we've put in place (e.g. at the Big Cat Sanctuary). Have a think about how you can be more careful with waste, save energy and help take care of our environment. Perhaps you can put some of these ideas into practise at your work, school or even at home!

Here are a few suggestions to get you started:

- Don't leave your car running for long periods. Turn it off and save some fuel!
- Switch off lights and taps at home when you're not using them.... lots of little savings can make a big difference!
- Put your food waste on a compost heap in the garden, or use the brown bin your local council provides to recycle food waste responsibly.
- Don't leave your T.V./DVD player/games consoles on standby mode.... this wastes more electricity than you'd think!
